

June Schiada, owner of PJ's Party Supply

At PJ's Party Supply every day is a great day for a party

If there is one thing June Schiada knows how to do, it's throw a good party.

The former party planner for celebrities and owner of Poshpourri, a catering and party decorating business in California, moved to the Sanger area in July 2000, and immediately fell in love with the town.

"My husband and I wanted to open a business. My dream was to be able to open a retail store. Now I have a family and I want to be somewhere stationary where I can share my knowledge with customers and help decorate parties. I love the party industry," she said.

As the owner of PJ's Party Supply at 205 Bolivar St. in Sanger, Schiada has stocked her store full of all kinds of party fun fare, including party tableware, favors, decorations, piñatas, balloons and invitations. She also rents helium tanks, bubble machines, fog machines and popcorn machines, and even offers free party planning guides.

"These free guides contain information on how to plan a party, how to decorate a party, how much food to serve and more. These guides are 20 years of party coordinating knowledge," she said.

The store is open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Tuesday through Thursday and 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday.

As part of her party service, Schiada can create balloon bouquets, which she did recently for the Tiger Elite Cheerleaders. She said she wants to be able to service her customers and is trying to listen to what the community wants from her store, too.

Schiada said her husband Patrick supports her 100 percent, as does her daughter, Shauna, 10, both of whom are very excited about the store's recent opening.

The grand opening for PJ's Party Supply will be held Nov. 23-30, the day after Thanksgiving. Throughout this special week, Schiada will be giving away door prizes and offering plenty of special promotions. A ribbon-cutting for the store has been scheduled for Nov. 30.

The store overflows with at least 60 different theme decorations, from character to seasonal to themes such as "Totally Texas" or "Football," all at reasonable prices.

"People are tired of having to drive to Denton," Schiada said. Now, at least for party supplies, they won't have to.
